PREFACE

Since we began our school career with a primer, characterized by short sentences and simple thought, we think it fitting to end our stay in the Rocky Mount City Schools with the same sort of book. In reality it is a primer; for it represents the first—and last—attempt on the part of the Class of 1947 to publish a book. Most children, when left to their own devices, spell a word as it sounds. (Some of our R. M. H. S. teachers can bear witness to the fact that quite a few of us still do.) It was with this thought in mind that we decided upon our spelling system. Billy Palmer has reproduced for our division page a section of a typical room in R. M. H. S. If you'll look carefully, you'll notice the distinguishing features. With the hope that it pleases you we offer this, our selection of the "Book of the Month" for June The 1947 Hi-Noc-Ar.

Best wishes always

THE YOUTH

The Youth surveyed the future grim;
Looked at the world with doubtful eyes;
Regarded the universe with hope full dim;
Strained to see clear horizon's skies.

"What can I do," asked he,
"To make this world a better place?
"What must I do, What must I be?
"How must I run to win the race?"

To find the answers, study well
Not just the poet's and authors' findings
Of unknown mysteries into which they delved,
Mysterious sciences still unshining.

Man's destiny is built on things
More material than other man's deeds.
Knowledge, character, acts of kings
Who sense the problems of human needs.

Ambition will make tomorrow's world,
Responsibility will plant the seed
Of courage whose banners unfurled
The cries of the meek must always heed.

His head held high, his shoulders straight;
A burning purpose in his mind,
Youth starts the journey full of faith
And firm beliefs in all mankind.

*Ruth Mathis Johnson and
Frances Bulluck*

PROPHECY

As a writer of mystery stories I have met more than my share of odd characters—both on paper and in real life; my experiences have been unusual to say the least, but recently I happened upon such an eccentric character and as a result had such an entertaining evening that I decided to cast aside my cloak of anonymity, and let you readers share my experience. You know me by my pen name, Mallory King, but I was born plain Bobby Williams, and graduated in the Class of '47 in R. M. H. S.

It was on a blustery March day that I told my wife, known to you as Angerlane Whitfield concert pianist, who was busily practicing for her approaching tour, that I was going for a little walk around our domain. Needing absolute quietude for our professions we had bought a small island off the Carolina Coast seeing in it the sanctuary we needed so much. The real estate agent had assured us that the island was uninhabited—at least to his knowledge; so upon first sight we bought it!

I was strolling along the beach on this particular day, and coming upon a seemingly deserted Coast Guard Station, I decided to investigate. I had taken only a step or two up the winding stairs when I was surprised by a quiet voice from above. "And just what are you doing in my house may I ask?" I looked up and found myself gazing into keen brown eyes staring at me with an intense ferocity.

"I was told that no one lived here," I replied. "I'm sorry I intruded. My name is Bobby Williams and—"

"Ah—Bobby Williams—that name has a familiar sound. Could it be that you graduated from Rocky Mount High School?"

"I did," I answered eagerly, "Class of '47."

"Then can it be that you don't remember me? Look closely." And with that invitation he limped painfully down the stairs.

I watched him come toward me, and I tried desperately to recall the younger version of this man. Suddenly I had it! Journalism—The Blackbird—Karl (Death Takes a Holiday, Basil Rathbone, Casanova) Rose! "Karl," I exclaimed, "What a wonderful surprise!"

"Come with me, Bobby," he urged. "I shall show you the most miraculous invention of the century. I have needed someone to share this with, but I am shy, you know, and I hesitated to venture forth into the outside world. It's been extremely lonely here since I lost my assistant, Jimmy Gray. Poor Jimmy—this hermit's life finally got him. He was wandering around the swamp with me one day, when his last shred of reason snapped, 'I see her—I see her,' he suddenly shouted. 'It's Chloe—I've found Chloe. Gimmie a pencil, Karl. I've gotta get a statement.' And before I could warn him he dashed after the elusive creature—and fell right into a pit of quick sand—and sank out of sight before I could save him. But enough of sadness—Come, take a seat here and I shall show you my miracle."

Not being a scientist, I find myself incapable of adequately describing the machine before me. Suffice it to say that Rube Goldberg in his wildest dreams, could never have equalled this monstrosity. Never have I seen, before or since, such a collection of cables, tubes, lights and assorted metals. The main object was, however, an enormous screen which completely filled one end of the room.

I sat down, rather dubiously, to await developments. I was rewarded instantly, for Karl continued "with this machine I reproduce a scene from anywhere on the face of the earth. This knob controls the southern states; this, the western; and these, the central, the northern, the eastern, the Atlantic Ocean, the Pacific, the stratosphere, etc! This indicator limits the scope to a single village or a house in that village. We'll now begin!"

And, my friends, I sat there amazed—stupefied, as Professor Rose turned dials that carried me all over the world where I saw former classmates. I know these almost unbelievable things are true for I saw them!

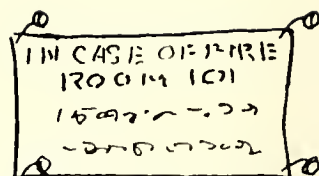

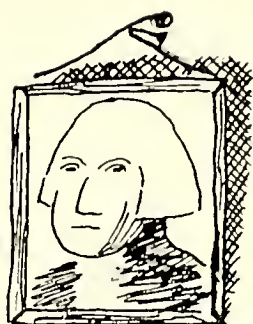

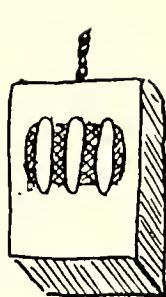

Billy Deans has realized his life ambition, water boy for a professional football team. Lyman guarantees that you'll at least be able to walk away from his Melvin Dancing School. Dr. Harry Moore, Veterinarian, is a specialist for mules—he's stubborn too. Georgia Bracy and Jo Ann Coggins are on their way to the moon in a rocket ship designed by Ed Davenport, who refused to enter his own ship. At last! After all these years Detective George Wyatt has found Kilroy! The first man to translate South African is none other than our language whiz—Billy Daughtridge. Georgia recently obtained another governor, bringing the present number to 44. The new governor, Ben Yelvertor, has appointed Tom Leggett as head of his political machine. Jo Ann Sides recently made public her revolutionary theory for reducing—just don't eat! Similar to George Washington Carver and his discoveries with the peanut, is Betty Clinton and her many uses for fat back and the collard plant. David Anderson, the famous politician, was recently electrocuted while trying to fix a burned-out fuse. Senator Tommy Cox is still trying to introduce a bill to supply all high school bands with new uniforms. Audrey Gray was recently appointed to head the census for Sharpsburg. After studying English for these many years, Betty Henry gave up and is now writing a dictionary for first graders. Ellen Skinner has set a world record as paper clip bender in a local factory. Ray Daniels calls his new business the Alaskan Refrigerator Service. Chief Electrician at Sing Sing is our own (but we usually don't claim him) Ben Fountain. Kemp Dozier will go down in history as the famous person who got all the clocks at R. M. H. S. together. Beverly Andrews is at present in jail for inventing a beauty cream that removes the skin with the dirt. Rose Marie Goodwin and Jean Alford have as a slogan for their Dehydrated Food Co., "One meal in every pill." The ninth person to understand the Einstein theory, Valeria Wallace, admits that Garland Barnes helped her "a little." Congresswoman Nadia Daughtridge has outlawed all noise making cereals. The first president of the Divided Mind Loafers, George Burton, by name, has been impeached. We never suspected that Alex Nichols would be the one to invent a school desk with a soda fountain on one side and a cosmetic table on the other. Nancy Williams finally found one way to keep room 13 and 14 warm—she set them on fire. Leader in the campaign to clean up New York's slum is Mary Lib Weaver and her chief washer is Elsie Mallison. Julia Ricks is taking her famous horse to Madison Square Garden where she will enter many contests. Without Al McCotter, the Carolina Basketball Team could not function—he blows up the balls for them. E. B. Strange sure looks cute under that hat with "Popcorn Man" written on it. Nan Wilkinson is busily auctioneering the furniture for heiress Jeanne Smith. Making quite a name for herself is Frances Pullen, head of the "Tired of Your Name? We'll Change it For You Co." Azile Witherspoon Williford is one of her regular customers. Peggy Strickland, new "Advice to the Lovelorn" editor, writes from experience. Peggy Oakley, head of the local Taxi Cab Co., and Eileen Bone, head of the City Bus Co., are staging a public war—so stay off the streets. Louise Lane, Adelaide Lehman, and Colleen Jones have recently published their idea of a typing manual—the timed writings are in the form of a serial story and are really quite interesting, since Donna Newby wrote them. Lawrence Lane and Oliver Sears are still trying to get that motorcycle to run one block. Among the many inventors of our era, we find Billy Robbins and Dickie Murray slaving over a mechanical stage worked by remote control that will enable the stage crew to sit in the audience and enjoy the production. Winkie Harris, that water lover, faithfully drains, cleans, and refills the local swimming pool once a month. Orville and Ed Williams, who always loved to draw, are now doing just that—they're drawing the lines on notebook paper. Ann C. Taylor has a most essential job checking the zippers for the new zipper factory in Battleboro. Marjie Vester, Dean of Cats at W. C. U. N. C., is ably assisted in her work by Jo Walker, who scouts for new "cats". Sticking the glue on Scotch tape, Janie Williams, Alice Barnes, Bobbie Beddingfield, and Betty Hufham often think of the "good old days". Collaborating in the landscaping of Main Street are Charles Todd, who is planting the trees, and Mary E. Fleet, who waters them twice daily. Ruth Johnson is now selling fish in the Bowery—we were afraid that expression would get her down. A cover girl—Nell Martin! She poses for the covers of Batman Funnies. Max Savage recently performed an amazing feat—the removal of Mrs. Asterbutt's cat's tooth. Carl Coppedge and La Verne Harper recently opened their new theatre which they named "Cum in and Sleep Awhile" (Cheap rates). The new streamlined milk man is none other than Randolph Watson, with Susan Bryant caring for his horse. Frances Bulluck, world champion woman's wrestler, has opened a new course—"Don't Fall for a Man, Make Him Fall Because of You". Poor Jean Tyree, her experience with the 1947 Hi-Noc-Ar really drove her insane. She was so accustomed to seeing pictures and writing numbers under them, that she was sent where she could indulge in her hobby to her heart's content. She is editor of the Alcatraz annual, "The Rock Pile". Twentieth Century Wolf Studios has signed Mary Lily Rhinehardt and Floyd Holmes for the leading roles in "Little Abner and Daisy Mae", with Jeanne Fambrough as the wolfgirl. Grace Johnson is teaching kindergarden and learning something every day. Billy Christian is organizing Boy Scout troops among the African Pygmies. Donald Newton and Gene Gurganus are trying to hire Richard Bryant as doorman for their "Open the Door, Richard" Club. Head of the "Invest and Get Rich" Office is Andy Peele—you invest and he gets rich! Frances and Joyce Ricks are featured on the radio singing "Maybe we Should be Sisters But We Aint." Betty Wright owner of a funeral home with the motto: Why Walk around half dead when we'll bury you for $49? Has Louise "Lay 'Em Out" Williamson as the chief mortician. Mary Lib Weaver and George Williams open soon on Broadway as the stars of "Disaster of a Flirt". Telza Lancaster recently wrote the article "One Practical Point on Saving Lipstick"—Don't use it. F. B. I. Investigator Sonny Rose recently solved the Case of the Disappearing Ink. Donnie Felton is really making money in his Easy Dough Pastry Shop. In the headlines of newspapers throughout the country is the suit to be brought before the Supreme Court soon. Frances Carter, with John Hughes as her attorney, is suing Frank Phillips for breach of promise. Jean Hill, serving as the Chief Justice for this case in place of her husband, has stated her partiality towards Frank to reporter Rose Shearin. With a jury made up of Nancy Osborne, David Odom, Frances Overman, Emmett Tatum, Gene Daughtridge, and Jeanine Brake, the case will probably go down in history.

As it was getting late, I was forced to leave soon after this last scene was flashed across the screen. So I took my leave of Karl, promising to return soon and learn what has happened to the remainder of my class mates.

I gues Junyors iz the biziest yunguns in skule. Seams like thein's allways sumething fer them to do. They beelongs too all sorts uv klubs, hold offices an hav awl kinds ov reesponsibilities. The biggest fund uv awl iz thee Jr.-Sr. Dance. Ever bodie dreeses up like rich movie stars an hav a won-derfull tyme. Junyors iz reely important peepul!

Who's Who at R. M. H. S.

Clear Sailing
Class '47

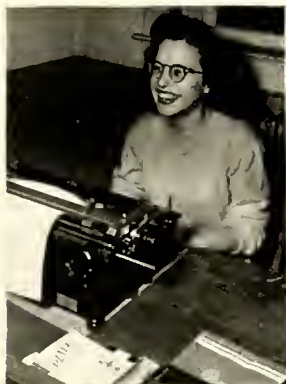

THE 1947 HI-NOC-AR

ROCKY MOUNT HIGH SCHOOL

We iz proud uv that pitchur up there! It iz our superintendent, Mr. Wilson, and R. M. H. S. 's most famous sun, Kay Kyser. In fac, Kay iz not only "Who's Who" at our skule, but in the hole U. S. of A. He iz our most important alumni. Mr. Wilson iz our candidate fer the best superintendent in N. C.

Thee rezon we iz lucky enuf two hav Kay's pictur iz that he waz hear makin a speech on Good Helth. Mr. Wilson remembers Kay whin he wuz a studint in R. M. H. S. thee sooperintendint sez that Kay wuz allus ful ov mischief and fun but he sti' had time to be very outstanding in skule activities. He even served as editor uv the Hi-Noc-Ar. Hats off fer Kay!

Everbodie kain't type; so whin you find somewun hoo is a whizz you nearly wurk um to death, and that is whut haz almost happened too Frances Pullen. She haz praktikaly wore her fingers too thee bone typing fer the "Blackbird", HI-NOC-AR, Englis classes, and anything she could do to help. She haz bin indispensable! Nobody nose how much hard work publications iz, I'll bet if you asked Frances she cud tell yu!

Thee guy hoo is kuming out of thee stage dor is Karl Rose. We put him on this page becaws he iz so versitul. He tells thee Senyurs whin to go home from assembli; he iz sports editor fer "The Blackbird" and nose an awful lot about ritin fer a skule newspaper; he iz plenti smart caws he makes "A's" all the time, and abuv all he iz a reggeler Van Johnson! When he acts romantic like in plays, all the gurls jist sigh. So fer all of hiz feminyne admirers who kain't take the reel McCoy with 'em, we precent this resonabul accurate facsimile!

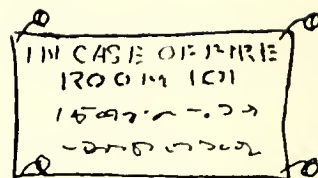

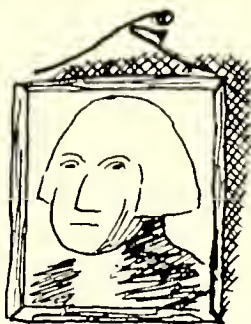

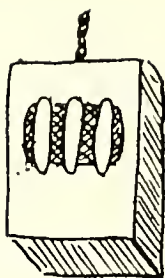

It wud seam that Mary Battle iz makin' a kleen sweep uv things in thee arkade. We like Mary caws she iz always smilin and happy no matter whut time uv day yu see her. She alwaz has a kind word fer ever-ywon. Mary likes wurkin at R. M. H. S. jist fine. She helps keep the auditorium kleen and everybodie nose whut a job that iz—specially after a performance whin programs iz scattered around. We like Mary caws she iz so friendly and we hope she stays with us a long time.

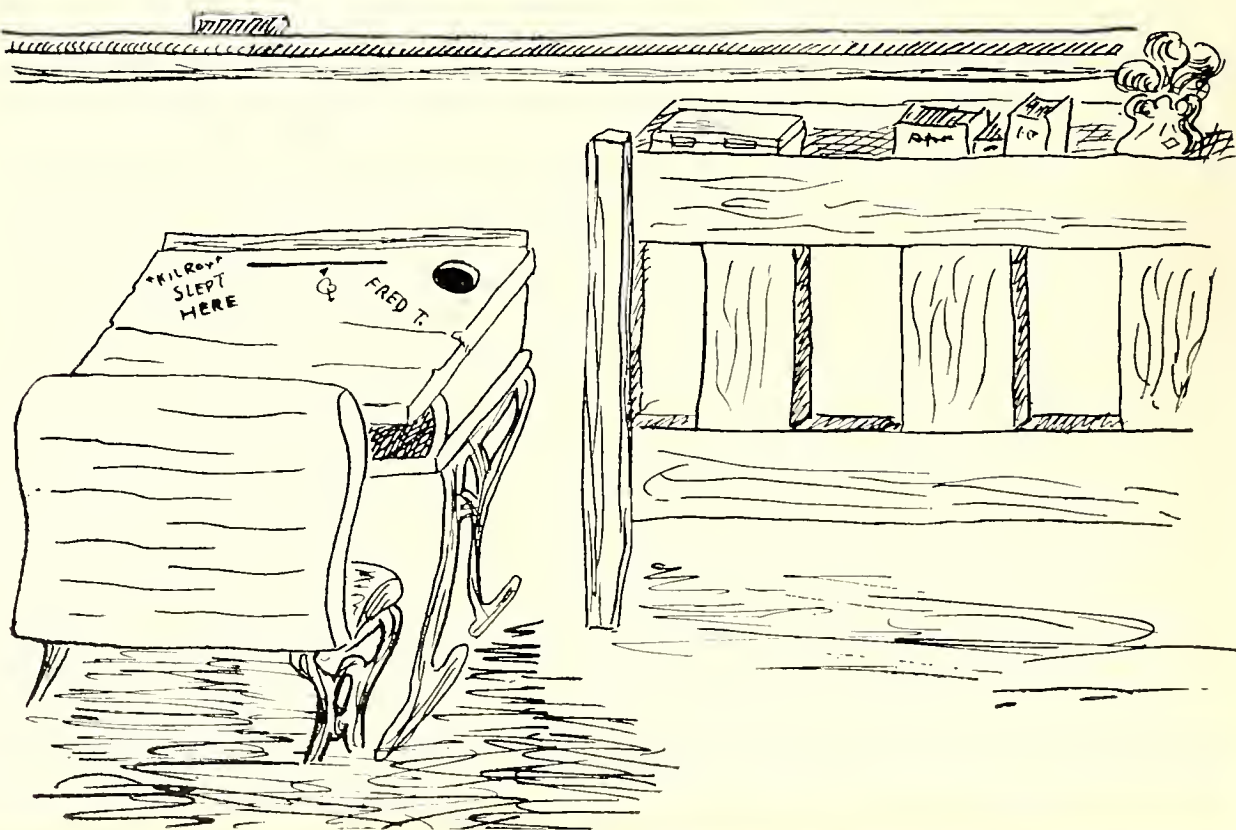

The pictur up above this ritin ought too be called "Whut's That?" insted uv "Who's Who". We don't no whut Miss "Murk" is talkin about er why she iz makin faces at Kemp, Alvin, and Max. Whatever it iz must be funny, cause Kemp iz jist about too bust out laffin! Alvin musta thought he needed gud luk fer this encounter caws he haz a rabbit foot. Max, as usual, iz doin' the eaziest thing—just setting. Anyhow, Miss "Murk" and three uv her favorite problem children are on this page becaws Kemp iz Sr. Class presidunt, a actor, and a popular guy; Alvin cause he iz the football hero hoo iz gramour boy No. 1 and iz undoubtedly the rezon why thee song "Heartaches" iz so popular in R. M. H. S. Max plays in an orchestra, is traffic committee man-deluze, and iz editor uv the handbook. Az fer Miss "Mirk"—She's jist the "Talkinest" Teechur they iz!

Nope, that ain't a picture uv long distance and half fare up there. It's thee long and short uv it in the band, Louie Lee Patseavouras and Wilson Harris look sorta like maybe they got their instruments mixed up a little.

This bunch iz the noiteritnest, lokeer meetin-ist, loud moutheest uv all the stewdunts.
The luv bug seams to hav bit the hole klass an as a result they act sorta silly, but wee don't mind cause we kno it ain't fatul. Nex yeer they wil ack human agin. Sofomores is kew busy with there own buziness to help out the skule much. Their iz lots uv mitey attractive an kapable kids in this bunch. Jes watch
'em nex yeer!

"THROUGH THE

The band anticipates a gud game at Fayetteville They is so excited that they can hardly play when they gets their.

Mary Leehane is having a tough time explaining to the Engineer how he orta drive that corntrapshun.

Going up we see the Riverside "arrival". Boy, what a arrival!! It shore was fun.

Here is the renewal of some old friendships when Riverside came to Rocky Mount. They all looks pretty tuckered! 'Coarse, Fred's tryin' ta skeer em afore the game starts.

YEAR AT R. M. H. S."

We don't know whether they is comin' or goin' but they looks like they is havin' a gud time. The destinshun wuz Fayetteville.

Hold that line! I'll bet them cheer leaders is just as tired as the players after that game. We is proud of them there to.

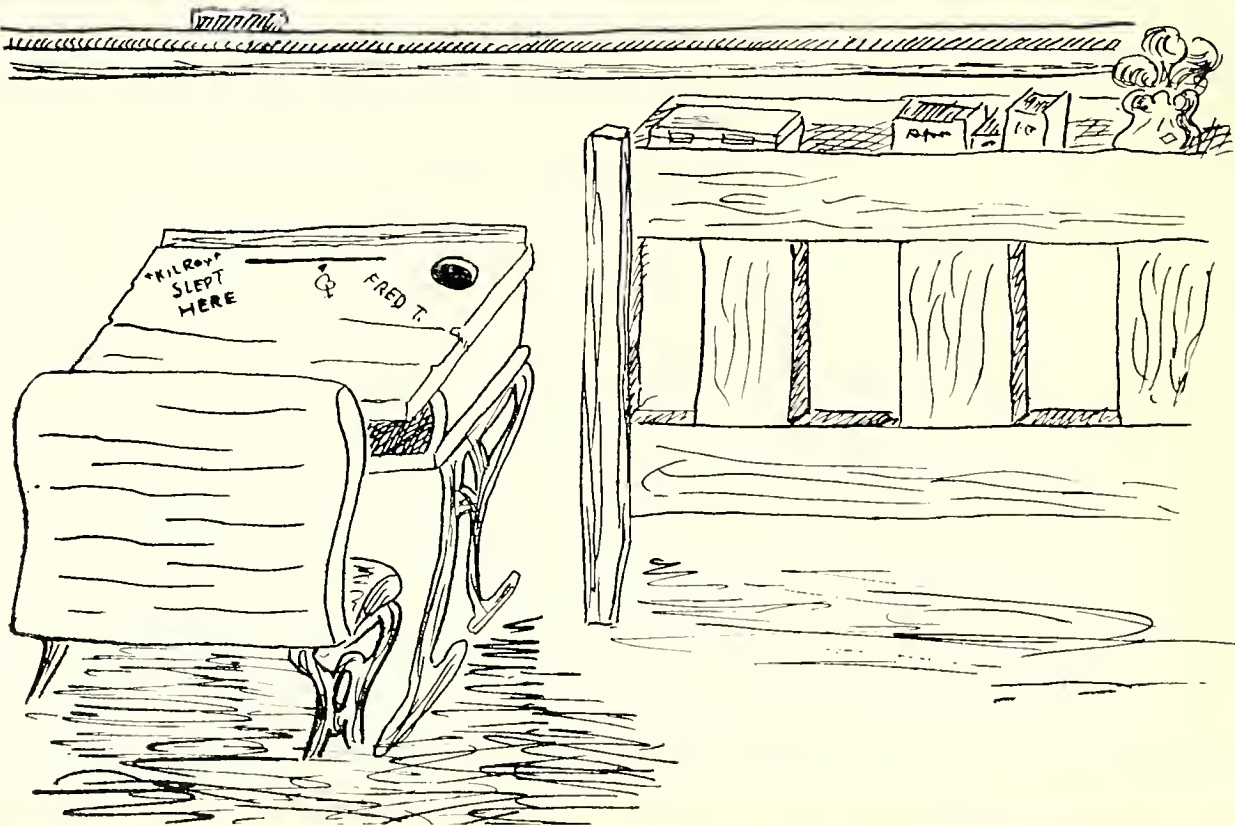

That line uf gud-lookers is typical of hour sponers. They wins friends and influences people. Bobby Williams and Anger-lane Whitfield look like they is doing a good job.

These boys at the bottom is reely in their charging. Luk out, Donnie, that mud is pretty thick!

THE FRESHMAN iz thee skule's babies. They iz MORE ov this bunch than any uthen in skule. Wee awl like our littlest ones, an most ov the tyme wee tri to help them. SOMETIMES sum-body tries to git smart with thee Freshmen, but it won't wurk, 'cause these yunguns no the skore. This will bee an outstandin Klass - wee betcha!

THEE BLACKBURD

Thee Blackburd iz our skule paper. It iz writ buy hand buy the folks in the Journalism Klass; Then the stoodents in typin' klass type it; then thee Evening Telegram printz it. It kums out every three waks. The kids tryed awful hard two make it a newspaper an not a skandle sheet. They did not uze much gossip cause they figured their wuz to much uv that anyway. They wuz interested in facts not fiction. Sum uv these kids went to Noo Yawk to a Press Convention; so nex year the paper shuld be almost as gud as the big city papers.

At the bottom left is setting and standin' our glamur department uf skule.

We salute the Honor Society grupe.

Now look at them trying to wake "Boo" up. She wuz plenty shocked.

We salute the Honor Society grupe again. They is all staring at us frum the top picture.

YEAR AT R. M. H. S."

They at the top is a happy bunch of people. They have just give a smash hit. The hole skule has just "Died Laughing."

The one at the right top is another shot frum "You'll Die Laughing." For once Andy Peele is helpless—cause Nadia has really tamed him down.

There is the grupe responsible fer the gud assemble programs. Sum stays behind the kurtain—sum rate out front.

Three gusses as to who this is (and two uf them don't count). Our K. P.—better known az Mrs. G., Martha, and Miss Lizzie. The ham and corn-bread is there but where is the cabbage.

At the left bottom is a picture of the Christmas dance. They all seem to be having a good time too.

What is Mary Fran and Barbara trying to spike the punch with? They two have been working so hard they haven't had anything to drink.

Mr. Harris is showing a working of these fellows. Here they are building on an extension to Mr. Adkin's house.

Well what do you know? There here above is the big four of R. M. H. S. the exclusive post-grads.

YEAR AT R. M. H. S."

Look up there at Mr. Johnson, our principle, trying to teach Wilson High Students some Shakespeare.

Now we come to the Good Sports banquet. They is all enjoying theirselves. Wonder who Patsy sees? Hum-m-m!!?

Well their is the "Ole Perfessor," Kay Kyser, telling us about the Good Health Plan. We wus lucky to have him with us!

Down at the bottom right is the Jr.-Sr. of '46. Them Seniors look powful sad, (But I bet they was't, don't you?)
